Phoenix

Since man is mortal and in due time passes on, he is continually seeking to create immortality. Ancient myths tell us of the phoenix, a rare and beautiful bird that came out of Arabia every 500 years, burned itself on a funeral pyre, and arose anew, in body and spirit, from its own ashes, a young, resurrected bird of great beauty. The ancient people of China called their phoenix Fung-Hwang, and the early Egyptians viewed their phoenix as an incarnation of Ra, the sun god. This beautiful bird known as a phoenix became an emblem of immortality and the resurrection through all history.

Our Phoenix is a school. Its timbers may sag, its stone may crumble, the earth itself may slip, but our school goes on and on. Life in our school is always young just by the nature of things; Life is continually being renewed by new young faces; life in a school never dies. Our school, like the phoenix of mythology, renews itself and is the better for it.

In September, 1961, Castlemont, like the phoenix, will be born anew. But only a physical building this time marks our Fung-Hwang, our Ra, our rising sun. For, you see, this renaissance has been going on for thirty odd years in the minds and in the hearts, especially in the hearts, of Castlemont graduates.

During these years, young life became older but rejoiced in the knowledge that Castlemont would live forever and ever; in its halls, on its playing fields, and in its classrooms the young would be shown the way in life. Timber and stone, and steel alone no more make a building than bone and flesh alone make a man. It's what is inside that counts—in the soul—and our school has a soul you know.

Words of yesteryear are as true today as they were then. Every Knight and Lady knows that Castlemont will live for all eternity "reaching and rising upward to the skies" no matter what new physical shape it takes or how often it is reborn.

The sectional division pages of the 1961 Falcon photographically depict phases of construction of the new Castlemont campus; the physical rebirth of our school. The remaining graphic content of the 1961 Falcon photographically records the educational and social phases of Castlemont life; the intellectual spiritual rebirth of our student body.

For the above reasons, we, the members of the 1961 Falcon staff, have selected "Phoenix" as our yearbook theme.

Dedication

With all the hustle and bustle of constructing a new Castlemont campus, another type of building is apt to be overlooked. This second type of building, which at first glance may appear less spectacular than the first, is the type carried on by a teacher with students in a classroom.

During his eleven years of teaching at Castlemont, Mr. James E. Snyder carried on such building. Up until his untimely death in January of this year, "Pop" Snyder, as he was called by Castlemont students and faculty members alike, poured into willing students his great talent for creating an appreciation and understanding of the beauty of expression to be found in vocal music.

One day, even the new Castlemont campus buildings will fall, and perhaps our school will be rebuilt once again. But that which "Pop" Snyder constructed in the hearts and minds of his students and everyone that knew him cannot be destroyed. Like a phoenix, it will endure to be reborn again and again from generation to generation.

For these reasons, we, the members of the yearbook staff, dedicate the 1961 Falcon to the memory of Mr. James E. "Pop" Snyder.

Bill -
I have enjoyed knowing you for these
last wonderful years.
I hope to see you up at the cabin sometime maybe we can get together for a after noon.
God bless you,
Love Judy

Bill!
Best of everything
to you in your future years. Have a lot of fun,
Bill - Doc
believe it or not - you will
miss it after graduation.

Bill: (peach fuzzy)
It's been fun trying to figure you out this year. Your personality
is completely mixed
up, but always
be yourself and
everyone will like
you. I am sorry I am leaving Ye Castle
but maybe in the future we will
bump into each other I certainly hope so.

Keep up your work in school. Tell everyone hi for me next year and not to forget who I am. I hope to teach at Castlement this summer (swimming) so maybe I will see you. God bless you always.

Love

Hebbie Justus

"23"

P.S. Maybe when I see you next you will have a long beard. Keep your seeds forever.

Bill,
So a small
friend whom I hope to see next
year.
Love
your family,
Connie

to a cool hope the
cat. I hope the
you make team next
year.
I am "Mad"

FACULTY

Mr. Edward Cockrum

Principal's Message

We have just finished a significant period in the history of Castlemont High School as occupants of "Castlemont Village." I am very proud of our entire student body for their school spirit, high morale, and fine scholastic records; for their outstanding participation in athletics and other school activities.

I am most appreciative to our faculty for their dedication to the educational needs of our students and for the outstanding work they have done under most difficult circumstances.

All of us look forward to being in the new Castlemont High School where we will continue to maintain the highest possible standards in time honored traditional Castlemont way.

Most Cordially

AI

Bill,
You're a sweet guy. Have fun in everything
you do. Good luck
always.

Love ya!
Sue
AI

Bill;
It has been
fun knowing a guy
with a real good
personality like you have. It has really been a ball with you in English. I think it would be fun to have some classes together next year.
Have fun this summer and the next few years. Good luck in all you do.

Love
Carol
